

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

IF CROSS, FEVERISH, CONSTIPATED, GIVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS."

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "doses" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them. With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them. If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it, that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. See that it is made by California Fig Syrup Company. Refuse any other kind with contempt.

CHOICE CATTLE COMING.

Herd of Holsteins from Ohio Consigned to William S. Brown.

From near East Orwell, O., William S. Brown expects to receive during the present week a herd of Holstein cattle that will rank among the best owned in Connecticut. The shipment will include 38 head, each and every one a thoroughbred, and represents an investment of several thousand dollars.

This herd is to be placed on Shepard Hill farm, owned by Mr. Brown, near Wauregan. Mr. Brown recently completed a model barn there as a part of the many improvements he has made since taking over the place. His investment in the Holsteins is to satisfy a long standing ambition to own a blue ribbon herd of cattle and, indirectly, to improve the strains of cattle in this section of the state. Mr. Brown made two trips to Ohio in connection with the purchase of the herd, which comes from an owner of some of the finest Holstein cattle in the United States.

The value of the animals is attested by the fact that Mr. Brown sold back to the man from whom he purchased the herd a new born heifer calf for $200. Shipment of the herd has been delayed by reason of the necessity of complying with the permit requirements for transportation, but the animals are expected here some time this week.

Three Stores in Court House Block Robbed—Loss of $150 at Lynch, Progress Confectionery and Gracea Fruit Stores—Dealers Shy of Hard Coal—Agent George M. Woodward Taken Suddenly Ill.

The robbery of three stores—all in the Court House block—was reported Saturday morning when the places were opened for the day. After an investigation it was said that the aggregate of losses was probably $150. The stores broken into were those of M. J. Lynch, the Progress Confectionery company and Gracea's fruit store, all adjoining.

The heaviest loss falls on the Lynch store and will amount to approximately $125. Money, in change, amounting to about $40, a diamond-set stickpin, a gold watch, silver cigarette cases, a valuable pipe, candy, cigars and other things from the stock were taken. It is not the custom to leave money in the store, but by an oversight this was done when closing on Friday night.

It may be recorded as a certain fact that the persons who robbed the stores were well acquainted with the premises. It is therefore taken that the break was made by local young men, although it is possible that out of town crooks pulled off the job.

Entrance was gained to the cellar of the building through a bulkhead door. Access to the stores upstairs was then easy. In getting from the Progress to the Lynch store a door that has not been opened in years was used. Against this door two barrels of sugar were set, on the Progress store side, and a shelf that was built across the door was relieved of its stock of packed sugar and torn down.

There is evidence that the job was made a leisurely one. In the different stores, with their stocks of fruit, candy, ice cream and soda, the nocturnal visitors regaled—and probably gorged—themselves. They fed themselves liberally on fruit and candy and did not overlook the ice cream and soda stocks. It is also evident that they searched the stores quite thoroughly for money and other valuables, but did not take enough, excepting in the Lynch store, to amount to a great deal.

There is no means of knowing at just what time the break was made, but indications are that the job was done during the early hours of Saturday morning. The police say that no suspicious persons were observed about the streets during the night.

The stickpin had been in the possession of John Lynch for several years. It was taken to the store recently with the idea of arranging to dispose of it.

The police under the direction of Captain Ryan were engaged Saturday in trying to trace clues. The break is the second within a week. Seder's store being visited by burglars during the early hours of last Sunday morning. The general opinion seems to be that the latest break can be charged up to home talent.

Shortage of Hard Coal Growing Serious.
Either the arrival of warm weather or of some coal will relieve a situation in this city that is so fast becoming acute as to threaten chilly homes further in the near future for many Putnam families. But if the Weather Man continues to work in sympathy with the Embargo sent the end of the present week may find this city without a pound of stove or heater coal. No dealer in the city has more than what might be described as a hard-to-mouth supply of anthracite coal and at one yard there is none at all.

One dealer said Saturday afternoon that unless his firm can get some coal through this week they will be unable to fill any more orders. Through out the late winter and early part of the spring season this firm has managed to keep enough hard coal on hand to meet the limited needs of its trade, but the pinch is tighter now and coal shipments or warm weather must come by the end of this week to save them from entirely exhausting their supply.

All of the firms in the city have orders in for coal and are looking for cars to arrive any day, as they have been looking throughout the month, but no cars come.

What is true of Putnam is true of towns up and down the Norwich branch of the New Haven system. In a tight place, many householders can and will use wood to keep their homes warm, but those who have heaters and depend on steam dislike very much to go on a wood-burning schedule.

GEO. M. WOODWARD ILL.

Special Agent of New Haven Road, now 78, Has Bad Turn Early Saturday—Son Comes By Special Train.

George M. Woodward, a special agent of the N. Y. & N. H. R. R. company, was taken ill at his office in the local station at about 7:30 Saturday morning, while engaged out on the routine duty of making out reports. He was taken to his rooming place on Elm street and a message telling of his condition was flashed over the wires to his son, C. N. Woodward, general superintendent of the New Haven system.

The message reached Superintendent Woodward at about 11:45. He hurried here in a special train, arriving at about 11:45.

He found his father, who is 78 years of age, resting comfortably, after remaining here the greater part of the afternoon departed on the special train, which awaited him in the local yards.

The senior Mr. Woodward's condition is not believed to be serious. He has been for years in the service of the New Haven road as a special agent, his duties which take him from place to place, bringing him in touch with many railroad men and police officials, among whom he is well known.

Burial of Payson A. Perrin.
The body of Payson A. Perrin, 77, who died at Three Rivers, Mass., was brought here Saturday and Sunday burial took place in the cemetery at Woodstock Hill. Mr. Perrin was the father of E. T. Perrin and Mrs. L. M. Calkins of this city.

Rain Spoils Plans for Game.
Saturday's rainstorm made it impossible to give the new Putnam team its first tryout, with the Putnam High conducted at the Baptist church in North Shattucket Sunday afternoon. A. F. Wood was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Mr. Whitman died suddenly Thursday night while in his room at the home of his daughter. He had spent the evening playing games with his grandchildren and was apparently feeling as well as usual when he retired. During the night a member of the household who had arisen noticed a gleam of light coming from Mr. Whitman's room and upon entering discovered the aged man lying dead, only partly undressed, upon his bed.
